The director, George E. White, was present again last evening after being away for two weeks on a vacation trip. This concert made the seventeenth that the band has given this summer and three more will be given to complete the schedule of twenty.

The entertainment given last evening at the Universalist church by Irving L. Potter and Miss Dora Rowe was well attended. Repeated applause from the audience showed that their efforts were very much appreciated. Mr. Potter gave as his first selection "The Other Wise Man" by Van Dyke, and the rendering of this parable was very fine. Miss Rowe then gave a selection entitled, "Angeline's Mission Box," which drew laughter from the entire house. The closing selection was especially good, that of "The Courtship" from Dickens. This reading was given in costume.
